Aro: A Stone for Everyone

MATCH AND COUNT Read with Aro beside the river. Point to each friend and stone as you follow along.

1 By the river
By the river, soft and slow,
Two small friends are set to go.
Aro calls, "Come look with me—
Find a place beside this tree."

2 Friends and stones
Three broad stones beside the blue,
Two small friends—let's count them too.
Touch each friend: one, two. Now see—
Touch the stones: one, two, three.

3 One to spare
Three stones, two friends: that's one to spare.
Match each friend with gentle care.
Touch a friend, then touch their stone—
A little place to call their own.

4 Make a move
If two friends share one small stone,
Find a spot that's all their own.
Move one friend; let one friend stay.
Both have room to wave and play.

5 A place for everyone
One friend here, one friend there,
Two bright smiles for both to wear.
One spare stone can rest alone;
Each has a stone to call their own.

Point to a friend, then point to their stone.
A place for each friend, a place of their own.

ARO'S THOUGHT

Every friend needs a stone of their own. Extra stones can stay empty.

Aro says

Pick a friend. Find a place. One per stone.

Explore more with Aro.

Explore wondermaths.app